

Ecosystems

Super Small Worlds: The Leaf Chameleon

Patrick Aryee describes the characteristics of the leaf chameleon, comparing it to the much larger Parsons chameleon.

<https://bbc.in/2xg7Rpn>

The Blue Planet: Raising a Family

A look into how the roles in penguin families are carried out as the seasons change and their young grow big enough to swim.

<https://bbc.in/2lXYwmG>

Wild Britain: Water Worlds

This insight into the wildlife of the Scottish lochs includes reed warblers and grass snakes.

<https://bit.ly/3a6FA19>

Planet Earth II: Jungle

There's a lot of jungle-dwelling wildlife to be seen here, from jaguars to ninja frogs to wasps.

<https://bbc.in/2Wqgfv1>

Why the Tiger Needs the Crab

This circle-of-life-like clip explains how tigers are dependant on the tiny crabs living in the sunderbans.

<https://bbc.in/2UfmsY8>

The Blue Planet: Small Beginnings

Phytoplankton, a type of microscopic algae, is the topic of this clip, which explores their impact on their underwater environment.

<https://bbc.in/2JoRAW8>